

Tetra Tech, Engineering Management Concepts receives Base Year Contract to provide Federal Workforce Management Support.

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Transportation Security Administration (TSA) awarded The Lockheed Martin Corporation a contract for human resources support worth up to $1.2 billion on July 3, 2008.

TtEMC has worked closely with Lockheed Martin as a valued teammate over the past six months, performing transition activities. These efforts have enabled the smooth transition of operations, from the current incumbent to the Lockheed Martin Team located in Merrifield, Virginia.

The Lockheed Martin team will provide the TSA with a variety of human resource functions; recruiting and hiring, personnel and payroll processing, employee benefits and work force management.

TtEMC's base year subcontract with Lockheed Martin is worth approximately $5.3 million. The expected value of the entire subcontract, to include the option years, is approximately $40 million. For additional information contact Frank Komar at 703-271-7077
